

Who Are We?

The Good Steward Campaign is Christians speaking out on the importance of caring for Creation.

In challenging times, the Bible matters more than ever. Through the Good Steward Campaign, Christians are

- Witnessing to the goodness of God's Creation
- Proclaiming our Bible-mandated responsibility to take care of it
- Urging compassion for the poor, who suffer most from climate change
- Calling for a healthy, prosperous future for all God's people

Our voices need to be heard. Will you be a Good Steward?

Why Do We Care?

Reason 1: The Bible teaches it

Scripture teaches that God created the Earth and called it good (Gen. 1-2), that we're responsible for taking care of Creation (Gen. 2:15), that Jesus holds Creation together (Col. 1:15-20), and that at the Second Coming all of Creation – and those who believe – will be restored (Rev. 21-22).

Reason 2: The poor suffer worst from pollution

In Matthew 25, Jesus teaches that we should care for the poor and the vulnerable. Climate change and other forms of pollution cause great suffering for the world's poor. That's wrong.

Reason 3: Our future, and our family's futures, are at stake

Creation will be a wreck for the next generation unless we act now. Hotter climate and severe storms. Less clean air and water. More toxic chemicals. Threats to our health – and our children's health. Building an economy that restores Creation is vital to our future. It's our only hope.

Pray and Study

Go through our exegetical scripture guide to creation care, use our Bible study, get educated about climate change and pray for our leaders to recognize our care for God's creation as a moral imperative.

Speak Out

Clergy can preach a sermon. Young Christians can write an op-ed, preach a minute for mission, or contribute to our "I Am" page.

Spread the Word
